RECALLED THE 1903 FLOOD. Relative of W. A. Sexson of Kansas

When D, G. Adkins of Kansas City, Mo., was in Goodland Saturday, and went out to the home of his relative, William A. Sexson, of Grant township, it recalled an incident of four years ago when our esteemed Sherman county citizen was water bound in Kansas City at the home of Mr. Adkins. Mr. Sexson had been back to Illinois on a visit, and while on his way home he arrived in Kansas City about May 31, 1903, when that whole country was being rapidly inundated City Here Saturday. country was being rapidly inundated with water.

He tried to get a train home, but the trains were all tied up on account of washouts. He remembered that Mr. Adkins lived over in Wyandotte, and he thought to while away a day or two with his relatives, while a guess at Mr. Adkins' home, he had an opportunity to take in all the distressing—and likewise unusual sight—of a mighty flood, and says he can never forget his experience in high water.

Mr. Adkins is employed at present Mr. Adkins is employed at present in the construction of the elegant Thomas county court house at Cobby, and when that is completed he will return to his home in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Burwell entertained at whist Tuesday evening. The residence was elegantly illuminated, and some of the illuminations were of Japanese style, such as lanterns, etc. The Japanese idea was exhibited also in the prizes given to the successful whist players. First prizes were won by Mrs. El. C. Wiley and Mr. Walter Smith, and the consolation prizes went to Mrs. Charles Jett and Mr. G. P. Lamberton. AT THE PHILOSOPHER'S CLUB.

Henry Meyer, the Artist, Tells How His Loquacity Cost Him.

Willis Brooks in Brooklyn Eagle,

"I was visiting at my old home in Munich, Bavaria," said Henry Meyer, the artist, recently, "when my father, one evening, proposed to take me with him to the Philosophers' club, if I would like to go. I had heard a great deal about this club, and jumped at the chance to visit it, knowing that I should meet there some of the most famous thinkers of all Germany.

"As we neared the club my father cautioned me not to talk too much, since it might be objectionable to some of the eminent thinkers.

"In the one large room which constituted the club's quarters we found a score or more of learned looking men, sitting silently puffing their long stemmed pipes. For fifteen or twenty minutes not a sound was heard louder than the sizzling of tobacco in the pipes. Then, one of the men who seemed to be in the most profound state of meditation, removed his pipe from between his lips, nodded his head in a reflective way, and said:

""Yah."

He seemed to have solved the dee he seemed to have solved the deep problem on which he had been thinking, and I expected him to launch upon the tide of time some grand, eternal truth fresh from the dry dock of his mind. But he only returned his pipe to his mouth and subsided into that dense slience from which he had emerged only for the moment.

"The next day my father delighted me by telling me that I had been ad-mitted as a member of the Philoso-phers' club and was free to attend its meetings. So I was present at the next one, a few evenings later.

"With my pipe in my mouth, I ob-served the silence that seemed to be so popular there, until four or five of the leading thinkers had, in as many the leading thinkers had, in as many half hours, removed their pipes and uttered the customary 'Yah. Then I thought it was up to me to prove that I was a worthy member who also had things on his mind. So I removed my pipe, nodded my head and said:

"'Yah, yah."
"The next day I learned that I had seen expelled for talking too much." GRAY FRONT RESTAURANT.

Opening of a Fine Eating House in Williams & Shaw had their opening of their new restaurant, "The Gray Front," on Saturday noon, when the public were provided with the first dinner at the new stand. The restaurant is located in the south room of the large fine brick building, which was recently completed by Messra Williams & Shaw. The dining room is twenty-four feet wide and eighty feet long, provided with tables and lunch counter sufficient to accomodate eighty people at one time.

The interior of the dining room is finished off in dark colors, and the tables and chairs are finished in mission style. The silverware, dishes and table linen are all new, and it is an inviting place for the public to dine. This restaurant serves a regular 2bcent dinner, and other meals are conducted on the short order plan.

Williams & Shaw have shown considerable enterprise in finishing upwuch an elegant building for Goodland and they will no doubt be well patronized.

Pueblo vs. Athletics. Game to be called sharp at 2 p. m. to Martin B. Madden.

"Mr. Madden has decided to retire at the end of his present term and devote his time to regalning his health. Mr. Dewey's friends expect their plans will have no serious opposition. Other political leaders in the district are favorable to his candidacy.

"Channesy Dewey won his place as committeeman in the primaries last August. He is a young man of wealth, owning ranch property in Kansas. He decided to make his home permanently in Chicago about two years ago, and took up politics as a serious pursuit.

"He has made rapid headway. A comparatively new resident of the Second ward, staying at the Metropole hotel, he made a vigorous fight for election to the county committee, and was at once appointed. This will be a base ball game, and

The game for today was called off The game for today was called off account the new Kansas law, which makes a misdemeanor to play ball on Decoration day. It is probable that the game could have been pulled off the local people would not have raised a complaint, but Manager. Dawson, who has ever been a thorough gentleman in his dealings with the public, and his team, positively refused to be a party to base ball played in disregard to the law.

Saturday and Sunday the invincible Midgets of Topeka are the card at the ball park against the Athletics. They come with all kinds of confidence, and are prepared to fight hard to maintain themseives as the semi-professional champions of the state of Kansus. Manager Dawson is under big expense to bring this team to Goodland, but his aim is to give the Goodland people the best article of ball possible, even though it costs high.

"Shorty" Barnes is about to quit the Goodland team, and go down into Oklahoma, where he has a fine ranch. "Shorty" will be missed deeply, and it will be a long time before his place can be anywhere near filled. He is as fast a second baseman as has ever been seen in Goodland—is a fast runner, a careful batsman, and seldom is there a game but he gets a couple singles, and oftentimes they are iriples and homers. Good luck to you, "Shorty."

Last Saturday night Rockwell, who is a member of the Rock Island team, and who is a good ball player, while switching in the Goodland yards, had his right hand smashed so badly that Dr. Smith feared the entire hand would have to come off. He was sent to the hospital at Colorado Springs.

"Half an hour passed before another word was spoken. Then a great philosopher at the other side of the room removed his pipe from his lips, nodded his massive head slowly, and, in that same tone of abstraction, said:

"Yah."

"He, too, I presumed, had solved some great roblem, and I listened for an exposition of it, but he merely placed his pipe back between his teeth and settled down again to that silence which was almost doleful.

"It was nearly an hour before anybody spoke again. This time it was a heary headed oid philosopher who took his pipe from his mouth, wagged his head and remarked, as had his predecessors:

"Yah."
